Two's Company's revival of A Day by the Sea (his most successful piece) at the Southwark Playhouse is charming and watchable, but never quite packs the emotional punch that it should. Our story begins in the seaside home of an upper class family.

Arana Telanri, a Druid of the Clan of the Flame Spiders, has lived in the Forest of Ruvano all her life. For most of that life, she has been the guardian of the elven capitol known as Qualilari. However, the queen of the elves has commanded she leave her beloved home and lead an expedition to the Southern Jungle. She, along with one thousand of her people, must blaze a trail through a vast, dangerous and largely unexplored territory to reach their new home. Throughout the journey Arana must face her own doubts and fears as she leads her people through conflict and the cold shadow of death to their new home. Whisper of Fate is the first book in the Under a Sea of Stars trilogy and the first step along Arana's journey to a destiny she could never have imagined."

The story of an unconventional man; tales of adventure, travel and inspirational meetings. From hazardous sports to bold business ventures, music, and dance - all life is here.

Framed by New England's 1938 Hurricane and advanced through flashbacks, voices of the land, and historical lore, this is the story of MacFarland, a Scots Highlander whose identity is altered by forced exiles. His story emerges in seventeenth-century Connecticut, the era of the Pequot War between Pequots and English colonists in league with Mohegans. Like MacFarland, Sassacus and Uncas, the Pequot and Mohegan sachems, become "identities in exile." MacFarland is driven from Scotland to Guildford, southwest of London. Shortly after meeting the Puritan Roger Williams, MacFarland emigrates to Massachusetts Bay Colony, then to the Connecticut shoreline, where he befriends a Quinnipiac family and later the two sachems, as well as the commander of Fort Saybrook. Through the Pequot War, MacFarland is forced to decide where his loyalties reside. Ultimately, he finds himself estranged anew and embarks on a "journey-quest" northward along the Connecticut River and disappears, lost in this final exile. As inspired by psychologist Erik Erikson's notion of a lifelong series of "identity crises," MacFarland must assume new identities as he endures his exiles. His exiles reflect our search for our own place between "civilization" and "wilderness" - and beyond.
