This book is aimed to bring out the understanding of brand positioning of two wheelers in the minds of customers i.e., whether the customers have brand awareness, brand image, brand identity, brand knowledge about two wheelers which lead them to satisfaction. In turn, their brand preferences towards specific two wheelers among popular brands such as Hero, Honda, TVS, Suzuki, Bajaj and Yamaha were associated with brand positioning.

This book presents an emotion centered research framework titled "emoha" for design innovation. It defines emoha and underlines the importance of the developed framework in culturalization of technology and thereby design innovation. The book explains the detailed research on product styling which leads to the creation of "Emoha" and how to use it in product design.

"You never cared for anyone's emotions. Going from one relationship to another—it was always a game for you..." A girl who never cared for anyone's feelings—can she ever love anyone? What happens when life takes a merciless turn on her? Does she deserve happiness? And what does it take to achieve that happiness? This is the story of the 43rd break-up of a college girl, Trisha Malhotra. Yeah! 43rd—does that make her characterless or moody? What is true love? How do we know it actually is true love and not just hormonal attraction? Does true love even exist? This story struggles to find answers to our endless questions about relationships and love, through the struggles of Trisha, in her quest to find true love and struggle for her own acceptance in a world of judgement and prejudice.

Focusing on Mostar, a city in Bosnia Herzegovina that became the epitome of ethnic divisions during the Yugoslav wars, this cutting edge book considers processes of violent partitioning in cities. Providing an in-depth understanding of the social, political, and mundane dynamics that keep cities polarized, it examines the potential that moments of inter-ethnic collaboration hold in re-imagining these cities as other than divided. Against the backdrop of normalised practices of ethnic partitioning, the book studies both 'planned' and 'unplanned' moments of disruption; it looks at how networks of solidarity come into existence regardless of identity politics as well as the role of organised grassroots groups that attempt to create more inclusive; and it critically engages with urban spaces of resistance.

Challenging the representation of the city as merely a site of ethnic divisions, the author also explores the complexities arising from living in a city that validates its citizens solely through ethnicity. Elaborating on the relationships between space, culture and social change, this book is a key read for scholars, students, and urban practitioners studying ethnically divided cities worldwide.

We all have that one person in our lives in whose absence our existence seems meaningless! Virat and Kavya are like chalk and cheese. While Virat is cautious and reserved, Kavya is outgoing and likes to lead a life full of reckless fun. In spite of their differences, they are best friends, and not even Mahek—the love of Virat’s life—can come in the way of that. But, as happens in every relationship, their friendship is put to the test by an unforeseen incident. Can Aditya, along with his cousin, come to their rescue yet again? You’re the Password to My Life is a true story that shows how friendship is the only ‘ship’ that does not sink.
