Numerose sono le tecniche costruttive di et à romana. In questo numero ne discutono alcuni specifici aspetti tre contributi nella sezione “ casi studio ” : relativamente alla citt à di Argentomagus, alle mura di Populonia, all ’ opus africanus e alle tecniche a telaio litico in Etruria e Campania. Nella prima parte del volume vengono invece pubblicati gli atti di un seminario che si è tenuto a Padova il 25 ottobre del 2013, dedicato a “ Tecniche costruttive e cicli edilizi tra VI e IX secolo ” . Le relazioni riguardano tre aree geografiche chiave nel dibattito storiografico: alcune regioni del Medio Oriente, dove è accertata una continuit à , in et à bizantina ed islamica, della tecnica muraria in opera quadrata; la Penisola iberica, per la quale si raffrontano due posizioni antitetiche tra chi la ritiene sviluppata gi à in epoca visigota e con un ’ influenza bizantina e chi la collega invece all ’ arrivo degli Arabi nell ’ VIII secolo; la Francia, dove le opere in pietra di cava sono assai rare e di datazione controversa; infine l ’ Italia, dove il confronto è tra i territori bizantini, in particolare Roma e la Sardegna, e quelli longobardi del Nord Italia dove l ’ opera quadrata non compare che con il Romanico. Il quadro che ne emerge è assai variegato e ancora aperto, il che richiede ulteriori ricerche sia su casi di studio specifici, come quelli qui presentati delle cripte delle basiliche patriarcali di Aquileia e di Venezia o sul San Michele Arcangelo di Perugia, sia per sintesi regionali in aree geografiche, come le coste mediterranee dell ’ Africa, non considerate in questa sede. E per quanto riguarda l ’ opera quadrata, l ’ attenzione è sulla sua ripresa in epoca romanica, argomento di cui si è discusso nel seminario pubblicato nel n. XVII della rivista e che viene ora riproposto in un articolo sulla Liguria di Ponente tra XII e XIII secolo.

For too long, the 'centre' of the Renaissance has been considered to be Rome and the art produced in, or inspired by it. This collection of essays dedicated to Deborah Howard brings together an impressive group of internationally recognised scholars of art and architecture to showcase both the diversity within and the porosity between the 'centre' and 'periphery' in Renaissance art. Without abandoning Rome, but together with other centres of art production, the essays both shift their focus away from conventional categories and bring together recent trends in Renaissance studies, notably a focus on cultural contact, material culture and historiography. They explore the material mechanisms for the transmission and evolution of ideas, artistic training and networks, as well as the dynamics of collaboration and exchange between artists, theorists and patrons. The chapters, each with a wealth of groundbreaking research and previously unpublished documentary evidence, as well as innovative methodologies, reinterpret Italian art relating to canonical sites and artists such as Michelangelo, Titian, Tintoretto, Veronese, and Sebastiano del Piombo, in addition to showcasing the work of several hitherto neglected architects, painters, and an inimitable engineer-inventor.
